Family Participation

In order to be truly effective, we must partner with our families and community. A strong relationship between home and school will ensure that our students and our program are successful.

We believe that parents and families are their children's first and most important teacher and we will endeavor to partner with our families, welcome, honor and respect their perspectives in creating the most productive and wholesome environment possible for all of the children involved.

We will be contacting you regularly through phone calls, texts, and emails and we welcome your input, presence, and skills to be shared in the program.
